Payroll CYE

The holidays are over, no more parties, no more gifts, all the fun is gone. Now it's time to get back to the real world. As 2015 begins, we have one last task to do, the dreaded W-2. All of our payroll professionals out there should count how many times they get this question. When do we get our W-2?

After you have completed your final payroll for the year you can start your W-2 process. Under payroll, period end utilities, you will find the steps to process your W-2's. Run the wage and tax report, this will give you an idea of how many W-2's you will be processing. Next, W-2 data create, this will create the information used to print W-2's, if you have errors, the system will report them to you and if they are critical, the system will not let you continue until they are corrected. If they are just warning errors, then you can continue but make sure the errors will not affect the W-2's. After your data is created and error free, run a W-2 listing. W-2 maintenance is optional if you have certain information that needs to be presented on the W-2's. W-2 printing allows several options, 2 to a page laser, 4 to a page laser, dot matrix (if you still have one.) if you file your W-3 electronically, that is the final step in the process. Don't worry, W-2 information can be regenerated at anytime for any year that you still have the data. However, any changes you make in W-2 maintenance will have to be redone.

If you run a pension payroll, then the 1099R process is the same as W-2 process, you just choose 1099R to print in the W-2 printing option.

As always, our staff is available to help by phone or in person if you need us. We hope you have a wonderful 2015.

Utility Billing

Question: Are there reports that should be run at month end?

Answer: Yes, this is what is recommended — UBTB, UATB, UPDL to balance utility billing to general ledger. At least one of them if not all of them should be run after all utility postings are done for the month but before any postings are done for the following month. THIS IS VERY IMPORTANT AT FISCAL YEAR END.

Payroll

Question: If I don't have my IMRF and U/C rates for 2015, can I still create the payroll file:

Answer: Absolutely, the files will create with your 2014 information anyway and you can go back at anytime into PZP and put in your 2015 rates. You just want to make sure your 2015 rates are in before you run your first payroll.

General Ledger

Question: We are starting our budgeting process and I know I get export/import in Excel but I don't remember where:

Answer: Under General Ledger Month/Year End Process, there are options to budget data export and budget data import to/from Excel.
